showcase/ Kouzina & Armstrong Interiors

Angelique Armstrong from Armstrong Interiors was drawn to our Herringbone Veneer at first from the Plymasters Woodbook, and really wanted to use it in this project for Kouzina Christchurch. Angelique wanted to showcase the soft herringbone pattern with curved minimal design and pair it with the organic looking 'mojito marble' curved island. With the kitchen display being in the middle of the showroom, tall back wall cabinetry made an impact with scale and height.

Plymasters Herringbone Oak is an oak veneer laid in a pleasingly symmetrical herringbone pattern, then pressed onto MR-MDF. This is a very cost-effective alternative to achieving the same decorative effect out of solid timber.

Kouzina is a supplier of premium home appliances and this kitchen showcases appliances from the Gaggenau and Neff range. Kouzina Appliances never compromise on quality and product selection and similarly partner with companies as Armstrong Interiors with similar values.

team news/ community donation

We were thrilled to be able to give a $1000 donation to the Whanganui DHB in particular - the Children's Ward. Every quarter we donate to a local cause and this time the donation will go towards making every child's stay in the ward this winter a more comfortable one.

project/ Highlands Motorsport Park

The Highlands Motorsport Park is a world class motor racing circuit and premiere tourist destination in Cromwell, Otago. In early 2021, multi-national entrepreneur Tony Quinn revealed his latest innovation at the Highlands Motorsport Park; Loo with a View! The toilets all have one-way glass which gives guests a stunning view of the race-track and surrounding mountains. Each toilet has a different theme and is instantly Instagramable.

Plymasters Rustica Chopped Oak panels are applied in the hallway to the quirky loo's. This unique veneer features on the skirting boards as well as the prominent bulkhead and multiple skylights. Chopped Oak is an exceptionally rustic veneer with a deeply textured face. Indentations and imperfections, chops and scratches, have been roll - pressed into the sheets to give them a historic feel. This beautiful panel has been stained to recreate a weathered old appearance imitating reclaimed timber. Local business, Breen Construction is the company behind this build, and they covered every aspect of this project.

project/ Grampian Oaks

An environmentally friendly build featuring Plymasters PurePly range panels which are 100% formaldehyde free.

Designed by local architect Peter Marment at Design Base Architecture in Nelson. This house will be HomeStar 7 rated once completed with PV Panels and Rainwater Collection. The rating process through the NZ Green Building Council allows to demonstrate how high performing and sustainable the house will be – for generations to come.

All the cabinetry in the kitchen and bathroom have been fabricated by a local Nelson joiner The Custom Space. Their team prides themselves on their exceptional workmanship and like to source the latest technology and products where possible. This is where Plymasters PurePly formaldehyde-free product fits in. The PurePly Maple encompasses technology that utilises soy-based resins to glue the sheets of ply together. Manufactured in Italy, PurePly Maple and Birch are from a FSC renewable plantation and is a major nod to eco-friendly plywood manufacturing.

project/ Locheagles Holiday Home

Breathtaking views and beautiful wood detail wrap this extraordinary building from top to toe. Plymasters American White Oak Quarter Cut Veneer with a Birch Ply substrate has been showcased for a variety of joinery applications here - whether it's the high-end kitchen, scullery or walk in wardrobes that really sing to it's warm timber embrace.

Bunk Beds were manufactured from a sturdy 25mm Plymasters Gaboon. Gaboon has also been used to line the holiday home on the ceilings and walls. The swirly grain detail really draws your eye in, and these panels are a defining feature in this build. Maverick Joinery has had the privilege in fabricating the joinery for this build.

project/ Mavis & Co. Restaurant

This project features two of our charming and warm Plywood panels- Keruing and Meranti. Lamb Creative Agency has designed this beautiful fit-out for Restaurant Mavis and Co. in Rototuna, Hamilton.

The Installation and build were done by PLYPLY Renovation and Interiors, a sub company under Lamb Creative Agency.

Plymasters 18mm Keruing and 9mm/25mm Meranti panels were used to line the walls and construct the cabinetry. We love the warm tones & timber grains that really shine through in this featured commercial build.

new timber grain product/ Californian Oak MR-MDF

With our company based in Whanganui, we always get excited to see local projects using our products! Mode Kitchens from New Plymouth designed and installed this modern and cutting edge kitchen in Whanganui using Plymasters Californian Oak Timber Grain Melaboard with Matte Black cabinetry.

The Timber Grain Melaboard range has an indented grain effect embedded into the surface, this texture follows the natural line of the grain to give a real timber feel. Pressed onto a MR-MDF board at 18mm thick, these are the perfect cost-effective panels for anyone wanting a timber grain finish and feel.

product showcase/ Pre-finished Colour Oak Veneers

Velvet Black, Graphite Grey and Sand Beige Colour Oak Panels are American White Oak Panels, quarter sawn and laid mismatched. It is then dyed producing consistently coloured, scratch-resistant prefinished panels, which retain the distinctive uniform quarter cut grain.

The Beam Oak range has a very rustic appearance, with numerous imperfections giving it real character. Small splits and knots and a veneer laid in random planks provide the beam effect. The Beam Oak Smoked panel is achieved through exposing the veneer to ammonium - this process, rather than using a stain, gives it colour consistency and depth. A smoked veneer will not fade or be affected by UV rays. The Stone Grey and Bronze colour is achieved through dyeing, rather than staining, for colour consistency and depth.

furniture / The Custom Space

The Custom Space are a renowned joinery in Nelson. They custom design, produce and install joinery and furniture for your home or business. Their collective and imaginative thinking have come up with some fantastic ideas using our products.

Featured here is the beautiful Lucia Vanity using Plymasters Euro Birch Multiply and the Hudson Chair using Plymasters Supalam* Carcass HPL product made from offcuts off the factory floor. We love the sustainability aspect of this unique crafted piece of furniture.

We cannot wait to see what inspiring furniture the team at The Custom Space conjure up next!

SupaLam is a hard-wearing HPL carcass plywood which is an excellent alternative to MDF-based panels. This HPL plywood (in white, black or grey), provides an exceptional durable surface while a hardwood ply core provides greater strength.*

project/ Vorlac Blonded Birch

Plymasters Vorlac range has a European Birch plywood core with a selection of veneer laid on each face. This project in Whangarei by B-Spoke Kitchen Company features our Vorlac Blonded Birch. The kitchen, cabinetry and bathroom vanity are all constructed with this pre-finished UV cured lacquered panel.

Plymasters has five veneer options in the Vorlac range - Natural Oak, Blonded Oak, Natural Walnut, Natural Birch and Blonded Birch complete our range of prefinished panels. The Birch plywood core ensures a high spec edge detail to go with the elegant, lacquered faces. This is a premium decorative panel with an A/B grade ensuring one perfect face. The back face is of the same veneer species but features a B grade veneer.
